about mainly music

- Babies and young children and their mums/ caregivers enjoying music, rhyme, rhythm and more
- Babies and young children developing skills – co-ordination, fine and large motor movements, social interaction, appreciation of musical styles, math and language skills
- Providing children with a structured environment followed by free play
- Bringing adult and child together for a time of safe interaction, and in doing so, teaching adults rhymes and songs that can be used at home reinforcing colours, counting and more
- An opportunity for mums particularly, to network with others
- Celebration of Mother's Day and Father's Day – reminding parents that they are undertaking a very important role as parent
- In some areas, social activities are planned to help parents socially interact as adults; primarily mothers; however some groups arrange activities for families
- In some areas, parenting workshops are held to build the skills of parents

In short, mainly music is an opportunity for adults and children to build memories and spend time together, sharing special time with each other
